Sharing the Hope of Passover

In a few weeks, we'll gather around the tables of our families, friends, and community at a Passover seder to retell one of the central stories of the Jewish people: our liberation from slavery in Egypt.

For me, Passover is an opportunity for what I call in-reach and outreach. In-reach: Passover is a good time to reflect on our Jewish identities; and, as we rid our homes of chametz and eat matzah for a week, it's a good time to reduce the arrogance, haughtiness, and pride in our lives (symbolized by the chametz), and to increase our humility (symbolized by the matzah).

Outreach: to others, in the sense of both inclusiveness towards those who feel marginalized in the Jewish community (symbolized by the orange on the seder plate); and responsiveness to the hunger, homelessness, and oppression that plague the world today.

In the Haggadah, we sing the song Ha Lachma Anya: "This is the bread of affliction which our ancestors ate in the land of Egypt. Let all those who are hungry come and eat with us. Let all who are in want share the hope of Passover."

The matzah serves to remind us both that the path to liberation is a difficult one, and that it is one we must take on behalf of others so that we "share the hope of Passover."

There are many ways we can help share the hope of Passover. In addition to making a donation to MAZON: A Jewish Response to Hunger, or to American Jewish World Service (AJWS), I invite you to get involved with local programs such as Community Crops or support T'ruah's Fair Trade chocolate for Passover program.

COMMUNITY CROPS

Community Crops provides education, advocacy, and experiences that enable people to grow and enjoy healthy and local food. Community Crops began in 2003 with one community garden; they now have nine community garden sites, a training farm, a CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) program, youth garden and cooking education, and more. How to get involved? You can always make a financial donation or volunteer as an individual...but wouldn't it be wonderful if the South Street Temple community came together to support the efforts of Community Crops to grow healthy food for those in our larger community who are food insecure?

Please join us on Friday, 26 April 2019, when David Grabarkewitz, the Executive Director of Community Crops, and our very own Ailyne Swartz-Taylor, the Community Garden Program Manager, will speak to us about what they do and how we might get involved.

FAIR TRADE CHOCOLATES

Making ethical consumer choices is especially poignant (and sweet) during our celebration of liberation. How do we do this for Passover? We can choose delicious chocolates that are both Fair Trade and Kosher for Passover (as well as year round!).

Many of the Equal Exchange chocolates have been listed as Kosher for Passover by the Rabbinical Assembly (the Conservative movement). They don't need a Kosher L'Pesach certification, just buy them before removing your Chametz for Passover.

Why Fair Trade? In addition to paying fair and timely wages, Fair Trade also: prohibits child labor, supports gender equity, provides healthy and safe working conditions, preserves and respects cultural identity, promotes environmental sustainability, and nurtures financial self-sufficiency. True freedom!

Equal Exchange chocolates can be found at several natural food grocers as well as other markets around Lincoln. For more information, a list of the approved chocolate bars, and to order directly go to: <http://equalexchange.coop/pesach>. 1.5% of sales are donated to T'ruah: The Rabbinic Voice for Human Rights.

To learn more about the above organizations go to: www.mazon.org
www.ajws.org
www.communitycrops.org
www.truah.org

As we enter the Passover season, may each of us find our own ways to experience the hope of Passover and share it with others..

Chag Sameach, Rabbi Teri Appleby

BIKKUR HOLIM – VISITING THE SICK

Rabbi Appleby makes bikkur holim visits and phone calls but can only do so if she knows that someone is ill or is in the hospital. Due to HIPAA patient privacy laws, the only time a hospital will inform us about a congregant is if the patient lists the Temple as his/her congregation.

If you, a loved one, or a friend would like the Rabbi to make a bikkur cholim visit or phone call, please let Rabbi Appleby know. Call the Temple office at 402-435-8004 or e-mail rabbi@southstreettemple.org

Social Action

CLINIC WITH A HEART

Our congregation contributes in three ways: by volunteering at Clinic one night a month, donating personal care items and over the counter medications, and by making financial contributions to meet our annual obligation of $1,800. As you know, we are currently accepting donations from our members and friends to fund our $150/month financial commitment to the Clinic.

We are grateful for the dedication of our Temple's volunteers and for the generosity of the Lincoln Jewish Community in supporting this vital community health service.

Are you interested in being part of the South Street Temple's volunteer team? Medical and non-medical volunteers are needed. We appreciate all the ways that our members and friends participate. If you have questions or would like to volunteer, please contact Barb Straus at barbstraus@gmail.com.

FEEDING THE KIDS AT F STREET

South Street Temple partners with "We Can Do This" every month to provide weekend meals to the children of the F Street Community Center. The Center provides evening meals during the school week, but it does not have the budget to serve anything to eat on weekends, leaving some children with little or no food during the day.

Join us as we provide lunch on the third Sunday of every month. Food/monetary donations, meal preparation and assistance with setting up, serving, and clean-up are needed!

We will serve our next meal on
April 21 at 2:30 pm
